Headline:
Isolated showers and sunny spells, blustery in the north.

Today:
Rain and cloud clearing to the east early, leaving a mostly dry day with plenty of sunshine and a few isolated showers. Blustery at times, particularly along the north coast and down the Bristol Channel mostly easing into the afternoon. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud increasing and isolated showers, particularly around the coastlines, before more prolonged rain moves in from the west in the early morning. Blustery along the coast in the early hours. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Saturday:
Rain, heavy at times, moves eastwards through the region. Some drier spells expected, before it clears completely, leaving isolated showers. Coastal gales possible along the south coast. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
A period of sunny spells and showers, some heavy and thundery at times. Cloud increasing on Monday, and more prolonged rain on Tuesday, with a risk of coastal gales.
